

Everything you wanted to know about Ethel's but couldn't really give a damn.

Welcome to Ethel's. Are you all comfy-cozy? No? Oh well. This is your official Ethel's menu, complete with worn corners, the odd grease spot and prices that are subject to change at the drop of a small business loan interest point.

A somewhat surly person will be by to wait on you shortly. Remember, they are not doing this because they want to wait on you. They are doing it because they just want the menu back. Sorry no fancy schmancy maitre'd here, rattling off a bunch of soups du jour or pea-sized portions of Cornish hen in a light cream sauce. So if you're expecting someone to pull out your chair, lay a linen napkin across your lap, and compliment you on your penny loafers and argyle socks, you just better pack up the kids in the Volvo wagon and don't look back. Really.

You see, yuppies, perfect nuclear families with 2.1 children, and people wearingfur, holding a Miniature Poodle named Fifi, will be stuffed in the pizza oven. Think us cruel in this regard? Too bad. Aliens took over these people years ago and there's no help for them now anyway. Besides it makes for the tastiest pizza this side of Timmins.

When you order, order briskly, in a clear audible voice. Mumlbers will be stuffed in the pizza oven (sorry, but we consider mumlbers the first phase of the alien invasion in the people mentioned above). While waiting for your order, feel free to look around. But don't venture too far from your chair. We are not responsible for lost or stolen seating.

Perhaps in your eye travels you'd be interested to know that before this building became the world-famous establishment it now is it was a Kentucky Fried Chicken, started in 1961. One of the first such franchises in Canada. At night, some say you can still hear the Colonel licking his fingers. Hence our spirit-appeasing shrine encased at the back of the restaurant. Originally, the building was erected to house Maple Lane Dairies. That was 1945. We used to have a shrine for them too, but it went sour.

Well the food should be just about here by now. So eat up. Drink up. Be merry. Feel free to shoot some pool and stick around for a few beers. Or, head over to the washrooms if you've already had a few too many. Oh and on your way out, don't forget to tip generously. Skin flints will be stuffed in the pizza oven.

Ethel's. No live entertainment. One t.v.
